Their enthusiasm increased by the prospect of another ideal afternoon, the horse-loving sets of a dozen cities of the East and a few of the Central West and South assembled today with Washington horsemanship for the second day of the National Capital Horse Show at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Eighteen events are carded for this afternoon. Four and possibly five of the events will be jumping classes, in which the leading jumping horses of the country will be seen.

Richard Donnelly, who rode Heatherbloom in the world champion high jump of 8 feet 2 inches, will be seen riding Confidence, one of the greatest high jumpers in the world.

Arthur White, the well-known Virginia rider, will be seen in most of the jumping classes, while John Buchanan, Melvin Hassen, Ralph Coffin, and other well-known horsemen will also compete for honors.

The principal event of the afternoon for the jumping horse enthusiasts will be the open-to-all class for hunters.

This class, which will be called at 4 o'clock, will bring out the strings of Dennis Upson, one of the Capital's leading owners; Miss Helen Buchanan, Melvin Hassen, and two-acre out-of-town entries.

Performance alone will count in this class. It is not only a matter of a big feather in the cap of the owner who wins it.

Officials of the horse show announced today that the receipts of the opening day were greater than those of any opening day in the history of the horse show association.

More tickets have been sold to date than in any other day than for any other second day of any show so far given in Washington, and all indications point to the five days of exhibition being record breakers.

Calls to Sell Book, Gets An Auto From Rich Widow

SUNBURY, Pa., May 8.—Instead of the usual rebuff accorded book agents at the rich man's house, William Lloyd, of Northumberland, received a cordial reception from Mrs. Hanna Noll, a widow who lives near Rolling Green Park, Snyder county, and she asked him to call again.

The call ripened into a friendship, and today he is in possession of a new automobile, a gift from the woman, who telephoned him to pick out the best looking machine for sale at a nearby garage.

Lloyd says he was flabbergasted, but took courage, and is now driving his new car with Mrs. Noll as an occasional passenger.

High School Girls Strike In Sympathy With Boys

WICHITA, Kan., May 8.—The senior and junior girls in the Cheney High School, pulled a sympathy strike when the boys of the two classes were suspended because they had placed class colors on the building in defiance of strict orders of the school board.

The girls walked out in a body, but parental advice led them to seek reinstatement at the hands of Miss Luman, the principal, and she excused them until the date when the boys' suspension ends.

Tag Day to Aid Babies On Wednesday, May 17

Dy Nursery and Dispensary Association Needs Funds to Care for City's Needy Little Ones.

Baby tag day.

Wednesday, May 17.

Don't forget it.

If you are approached next week, exactly on Wednesday, by a girl or a boy or a woman, and asked to buy a tag for the Day Nursery and Dispensary Association, reach down in your pocket and get MONEY. Give it to the seller, get a tag in return, and smile all the rest of the day.

For if there is any one in the world so heart-heated that the thought of having helped to feed some hungry, insistent baby, cannot cheer, that one wouldn't have bought a tag in the first place.

All of the money collected by tag sellers next Wednesday goes to the upkeep of the Dispensary Association and Washington's Milk Way, otherwise known as the Day Nursery, at 404 N street southwest.

Also Care For Others.

At the dispensary they dispense medicine for mothers and children, and babies. Also will they care for fathers and other people, at the clinic.

At the day nursery this association takes the children of working mothers, also sick babies.

If one is a well baby with a busy mother, one may knock and receive admission, be fed, clothed, amused and allowed to sleep until the time for going back home, if one is a sick baby, one is made into a well baby.

Although the money from Tag Day goes to the association in the name of the whole corporation, it is primarily intended and used for the day nursery, so that buying a tag is exactly the same thing as buying milk outright for children whose mothers cannot buy this precious fluid.

The association is able to carry the expenses of the different departments without great effort in the winter. But in the summer, when milk is expensive, not only to get, but expensive to keep sweet and clean, the demands overwhelm the day nursery.

More Sick Babies.

Then it is that the sick babies pile up, that hungry babies are brought by mothers who managed very well in cold weather, and when death and disease lurk in the very air.

The one nurse, the two helpers, and the meager supply of milk available for the expenses of the association are utterly inadequate to meet the problem presented in the months of June, July, August, and, sometimes, September.

So, remember next Wednesday, and dip down in your pocketbook. You may be repaid later on and you may not. That is, of course, granting that the satisfaction of having helped some weaker human being isn't pay enough.

Land Office Clerks Aid Ippolito Fund

Divisions K and F Contribute to Injured Crossing Policeman's Relief.

Employees of Divisions K and F, General Land Office, are among the latest contributors to the fund being raised for the family of Ippolito, the crossing policeman, who was struck by an automobile of the Fire Department and seriously injured two weeks ago Saturday. Ippolito was known personally by a number of clerks as well as officials of the Land Office, which is located in F street, near where the officer was stationed. They gave $25. Another contributor today was Mrs. John M. Simpson, who called at The Times' office and left $1 to be applied to the fund.

This raised the fund to $723.15.

Refused to Listen to It

Men Once Condemned Life Insurance. New Savings Plan of Continental Trust Company Furnishes Parallel.

Refusing to believe that any company could for a few dollars a year assume a thousand dollar risk on a man's life, at the same time agreeing to pay back more money than actually had been paid them, should that man live out a definite term of years, many men once scoffed at life insurance. Today life insurance is regarded as a necessity—a bulwark in every day business life.

Like life insurance the new savings plan of the Continental Trust Company of this city offers you something which on its face seems too good to be true. But life insurance is based upon cold calculating figures, and has the approval of one of Washington's strongest and most conservative banks. Two hundred good merchants are a part of this remarkable system.

A group of business women from the Continental Trust Company are calling in offices and homes telling about it. It means much to you. It will pay you to listen.—Advertisement.

Praeger Answers Attack on Policy

Charges University Professor Made Misstatements of Fact in Mail Pay Editorial.

In sixteen sentences, Prof. Roland G. Usher made eleven misstatements as to the United States policy of paying for mail carrying, Otto Praeger, Second Assistant Postmaster General, charged in a letter today which he sent to Dr. Frederick A. Hall, acting chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., where Usher teaches.

An editorial written by Prof. Usher for a newspaper syndicate, attacking the postal department for alleged unfairness in paying railways for carrying mail, was further termed of such a character that "no university in the country would countenance publication of the name of one of its educators as author."

Militant Barnard Girl Is Married by Contract

NEW YORK, May 8.—Miss Freda Kirchwey, daughter of Dr. George W. Kirchwey, acting warden of Sing Sing prison, who was regarded as the most militant young woman at Barnard College, from which she was graduated with the class of 15, has carried her militant life into private life.

Papers filed in the county clerk's office show that Miss Kirchwey on November 2, last, became the contract wife of Evans Clark, of Princeton, N. J.

Instead of the usual ceremony the couple were wedded by the signing of a contract, in which they took each other for husband and wife.

Four of Nye Family Were Married on the Same Day

SHENANDOAH, Iowa, May 8.—The wedding of Lawrence Nye to Miss Maude Cutler at 12:30 o'clock a. m., was the first of four marriages of the children of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nye, on their fortieth wedding anniversary.

The wedding of Arthur Nye, secretary of the Commercial Club, was the next surprise. He was married to Miss Mary Healy, of Stratton, Ill., at high noon.

Folk will ask the court to declare Smith in contempt if he persists in his refusal to talk on this point. Smith, if he loses, may appeal to the United States Supreme Court. Folk, besides trying to force Smith to tell what influence the Louisville and Nashville had with Southern State legislatures, will ask, also, what was done with a $200,000 secret service fund spent by the road between 1906 and 1914.
